Dear Bibliofind Customer:

Bibliofind has just learned of a security violation on its site that compromised the security of credit card information used on Bibliofind's servers from last October through February 2001.

We have no information at this time to suggest that your credit card has been misused, but we wanted to notify you as a precautionary measure. We have been in contact with the federal law enforcement authorities on this matter, and we have also notified the appropriate credit card companies, so that they can take the necessary steps to protect the interests of any cardholders who may be affected.

If you have specific questions about your credit card account, please contact the issuer of your credit card.

To ensure this doesn't happen again, we have removed all customer credit card information, physical addresses, and phone numbers from Bibliofind's servers. We expect to bring the Bibliofind system back into operation shortly.

We apologize for any inconvenience this may cause you.
 You can contact us with questions at

Sincerely,

Bibliofind

Dear Bibliofind Customer:

Bibliofind has just learned of a security violation on its site that compromised the security of credit card information used on Bibliofind's servers from last October through February 2001.

We have no information at this time to suggest that your credit card has been misused, but we wanted to notify you as a precautionary measure. We have been in contact with the federal law enforcement authorities on this matter, and we have also notified the appropriate credit card companies, so that they can take the necessary steps to protect the interests of any cardholders who may be affected.

If you have specific questions about your credit card account, please contact the issuer of your credit card.

To ensure this doesn't happen again, we have removed all customer credit card information, physical addresses, and phone numbers from Bibliofind's servers. We expect to bring the Bibliofind system back into operation shortly.

We apologize for any inconvenience this may cause you. You can contact us with questions at info@bibliofind.com.

Sincerely,

Bibliofind

It's a pain because I use it to record Max's show each week and have to set the date to 1999. Then if I forget to put it back, everyone gets "old" mail, and any files I save are 1999.

I'm surprised that there hasn't been more said about this by Cool Edit, in light of the big Y2K thing.

I found a copy of I, Libertine through www.bibliofind.com at a Stockholm book dealer. It was listed as VG first edition paperback. So I sent for it, figuring the price was not correctly posted. They confirmed the price and I ordered it. I figured that it would be far less than VG condition. I received it and it was "Uncirculated". The book was like it had just come out of the box except for the yellowing pages natural to paperbacks. The spine didn't have a crease from being open even once. The price of the book was two dollars plus $4.53 shipping. Not bad for a 44 year old 35 cent paperback.

Jim

I see what you mean.

I did find a reference in one of the forums to this behavior. It mentioned "lack of Y2K compliance" as one of the numerous bugs for which a patch or new revision is sorely needed.
