

BARD ACTRESS QUEEN OF SILVERMINE' BAL

Lois Nettleton, who is playing this summer at the American Shakespeare Festival theater in Stratford, will be crowned queen of the Bal Caprice at Silvermine guild's annual ball Saturday night.

Miss Nettleton appears in "Merchant of Venice." Theme of this year's ball attended by customary celebrities is "A Night in Venice."

Others from Shakespeare theater who will attend are Jacqueline Bracks, Desdemona in "Othello," Olive Deering, Bianca in "Othello," and Dina Darrone, understudy to Susan Strasberg in "Diary of Anne Frank" and now Shylock's daughter in "Merchant of Venice."

Mort Gottlieb, general manager of the Shakespeare theater, and Jean Sheppard, New York radio broadcaster, will be costume judges.
